

1 General Terms

Please find enclosed the contractual documents governing the provision of services by LucaNet. These documents form the foundation for your contractual relationship with LucaNet. The contractual documents referred to in the primary contract are comprised of the contractual terms (CT) and the data protection terms (DPT).

2 Scope of Application

1. The CT govern all contracts for the provision of services by LucaNet to Customers who are contracting in the capacity of:
 - A business person
 - A legal entity under public law
 - A special fund under public law
2. The CT also govern future contracts with the Customer in their originally binding version, irrespective of whether such future contract makes express reference to the CT.
3. LucaNet may modify the CT and shall in this case be required to notify the Customer of the proposed modifications. The modified CT become legally binding for all contracts upon receipt of said notification.
4. Departing, conflicting, or supplemental terms and conditions of the Customer will only form part of the contract if LucaNet has expressly consented to their applicability. The unreserved provision of services by LucaNet in awareness of the Customer's terms and conditions does not constitute an acknowledgment of their applicability.

3 Performance of Services and Performing Personnel

1. LucaNet will determine the personnel involved in the provision of its services at its reasonable discretion. The Customer may only request the replacement of specific persons for important reasons. The Customer does not have the right to issue instructions to any personnel working for LucaNet.
2. LucaNet is authorised to involve subcontractors in the performance of its services.
3. Distinguishable partial services are deemed owed in separate deliveries by LucaNet.
4. The parties undertake to refrain from actively recruiting any personnel working for the respective other party. Specifically and in detail:
 - a) For continuing obligations: During the term of the continuing obligation and for a period of 24 months after the continuing obligation has ended
 - b) In all other cases: For a period of 24 months from the date LucaNet has ended the provision of services.

In the event a party culpably infringes against the obligation imposed in the preceding sentences, the other party shall be entitled to terminate the services provided for in the primary contract for good cause with immediate effect and claim a contractual penalty in a reasonable amount.

4 Dates

1. Dates requested unilaterally from the Customer (e.g. in a purchase order) are considered preferred delivery dates. This also applies in cases where LucaNet does not expressly object against specific delivery dates requested by the Customer. Only delivery dates that have been mutually agreed are legally binding on LucaNet.
2. The legally binding delivery dates shall in the following cases be extended automatically and allow for an additional reasonable restart time:
 - a) The Customer, or a third-party attributable to the Customer, has failed to satisfy its contractual obligations to cooperate
 - b) Other impediments (e.g. force majeure, network failure, etc.) for which LucaNet is not at fault.

5 Personnel's Work Location

1. LucaNet's personnel will be deployed to work locations determined in mutual agreement between LucaNet and the Customer. The work will usually take place at a LucaNet office or onsite at the Customer.
2. In as far as LucaNet is required to perform work onsite at the Customer and such on-site work requires observance of special rules and regulations (e.g. access rules, safety regulations, etc.), the Customer shall inform LucaNet about such rules and regulations as well as their meaning in a timely fashion.
3. Works to the Customer's IT systems, including troubleshooting of errors or defects afflicting the services provided by LucaNet, will be carried out via remote access, unless there are compelling reasons against remote access.

6 Prices and Payment Terms

1. The prices quoted for the provision of services by LucaNet are exclusive of any relevant indirect taxes.
2. Invoices are due for immediate payment in their net amount, deductions are not permitted. Invoices will be issued electronically to the e-mail address provided by the Customer. The Customer undertakes to promptly notify LucaNet of any change in the e-mail address.
3. In the case of a payment default, LucaNet shall be entitled to charge default interest at a rate of 9% p.a. above the relevant base interest rate and demand payment of lump-sum costs of up to GBP 34.22 . LucaNet may also temporarily suspend its services until full payment has been received.

7 Indirect Taxes

1. If the national law in the Customer's country requires LucaNet to make payment of indirect taxes, the Customer shall support LucaNet in satisfying all related requirements and completing all related formalities.
2. All payments to LucaNet must be inclusive of indirect taxes. If the Customer is required to withhold indirect taxes, the Customer shall increase the payment amount as necessary to assure that LucaNet is paid the exact amount as was agreed in the primary contract as the price billable for the services provided.

3. If the withholding of taxes cannot be avoided, LucaNet shall reimburse the Customer for such taxes, provided LucaNet can claim an input credit on its own tax liabilities in United Kingdom. The reimbursement shall cover one calendar year and is payable within four weeks from receipt of the tax notice.

8 Customer's Obligations

1. The Customer is required to assist LucaNet in the provision of services by rendering a reasonable degree of cooperation. The Customer shall complete the agreed preparations for the provision of services by LucaNet in due time. The Customer's obligations to cooperate include but are not limited to the following obligations:
 - a) The Customer undertakes to provide contact details for the persons designated in the Annex to these General Terms and Conditions and to notify LucaNet of any changes. The legal contact person must be authorised to conduct business transactions on behalf of the Customer and to sign documents with binding legal effect. LucaNet is authorized to send all notices and information that concern the services provided by LucaNet to these contacts. These notices and information are deemed received by the Customer upon being received by the recipient. To allow the Customer to update these contact details whenever necessary, LucaNet is authorised to offer a self-service portal on its home page.
 - b) The Customer shall assure that knowledgeable persons authorised to make decisions are available at the agreed dates and allow LucaNet to carry out the works.
 - c) The Customer shall make suitable workstations for on-site works available to LucaNet personnel.
 - d) The Customer shall grant LucaNet the right and enable LucaNet to use the Customer's or a third party's systems and data and, in as far as required for the provision of services by LucaNet and not opposed by any important reasons, allow for access to said data in the Customer's network via remote access.

 - i) The Customer is responsible for the provisioning of a functional and adequately dimensioned hard and software environment. The information pertaining to the system environment requirements is not geared to any specific Customer and only intended to provide rough goalposts for the dimensioning of the system environment required for operating the software within customary limits. The necessary resources essentially depend on the type and intensity of the software's actual use by the Customer. Changed system requirements resulting from software maintenance may require the system environment to be updated in order to support new versions.
 - j) Before commencing productive use of the software, the Customer shall thoroughly test the software for defects and usability in the existing system environment.
 - k) The Customer shall take reasonable precautions for the event that all or part of the software fails to work properly, e.g. by regularly reviewing the results.
 - l) The Customer shall promptly notify LucaNet in the event of a third-party making claims for proprietary rights (e.g. copyright or patent rights) in the software.

2. The Customer shall satisfy the obligations to cooperation incumbent on it without incurring a charge.

9 Non-Disclosure

1. LucaNet and the Customer mutually undertake to refrain from disclosing confidential information and proprietary business information of the other party obtained during the contractual relationship and as a result of its performance, particularly including after the end of their cooperation, for an indefinite term. The parties further undertake to only use such information for purposes related to the performance of the respective contract.
2. The non-disclosure obligation does not apply to confidential information that:
 - a) Was or became part of the public domain at the time of being disclosed to the other party or thereafter without a breach of this non-disclosure obligation,
 - b) Was acquired without breaching the non-disclosure obligation by the other party from a third party who was not bound by confidentiality,
 - c) Has been independently developed by the other party,
 - d) Has been expressly released for disclosure by the other part, or
 - e) Must be disclosed under compulsory law or on the grounds of a judicial or administrative order.

10 Limitation Period

The limitation period for all guarantee claims asserted by the Customer against LucaNet for defective performances is one year from the commencement of the statutory limitation period. The statutory limitation periods shall apply to the following claims:

 - a) Damages caused by the willful intent or gross negligence of LucaNet or its subcontractors;
 - b) Personal injury; and
 - c) Damages and losses under the Consumer Protection Act

2. LucaNet shall only bear liability for damages incurred by the Customer as a result of slight or simple negligence if the damage was caused by an infringement against a material contractual obligation. Material contractual obligations are contractual obligations whose satisfaction render the proper performance of the contract possible in the first place, and on the satisfaction of which the Customer is and was ordinarily entitled to rely. Any liability of LucaNet under this provision for simple negligence is limited to the damages that are typically foreseeable for the relevant contract. Any further liability of LucaNet for slight or simple negligence is excluded.
3. The provisions stipulated in the preceding subclauses apply analogously for a limitation of LucaNet's liability to compensate the Customer for futile expenditure (Sales of Goods Act 1979) .
4. LucaNet as the lessor shall not bear strict liability for defects that were already present at the time of contracting.
5. The above liability limitations also apply for the benefit of LucaNet's subcontractors.
6. LucaNet shall not be held liable for interrupted availability caused by a force majeure event. Force majeure events include theft, general malfunctioning of the Internet, or other circumstances that are unforeseeable and not caused by LucaNet. LucaNet shall, in as far as possible and reasonable under the prevailing circumstances, notify the Customer of the occurrence of a force majeure event.
7. LucaNet shall not bear liability for any defects afflicting pre-release versions. LucaNet's liability is strictly limited to software versions that have been assigned "General Availability" (GA) status. Pre-release versions, beta versions and versions no longer supported by LucaNet are used at the Customer's own risk and own responsibility.
8. LucaNet reserves the right to plead contributory negligence. The Customer shall in this respect observe the obligations pursuant to clause 8.

12 Rectification of Defects

1. LucaNet's warranty is exclusively limited to defects afflicting LucaNet's proprietary software. Warranty claims for defective third-party software delivered or otherwise made available free of charge to the Customer by LucaNet are excluded. This in particular includes the Java runtime environment made available by LucaNet free of charge.
2. LucaNet will only cover defective software under warranty if the software is used reasonably and within customary limits, as well as in conformity with the service description.
3. LucaNet will initially attempt to rectify a technical defect by rendering subsequent performance. LucaNet may at its sole discretion render subsequent performance in the following ways:
 - a) LucaNet provides the Customer with a new and defect-free version of the software (substitute delivery)
 - b) LucaNet rectifies the defect (subsequent improvement)

A defect shall be deemed rectified if LucaNet provides the Customer with a reasonable workaround method for the defect.

4. LucaNet will initially attempt to remedy a defective title by rendering subsequent performance. LucaNet may at its sole discretion render subsequent performance in the following ways:

- a) LucaNet provides the Customer with a legally unobjectionable way of using the software.
- b) LucaNet makes substitute delivery of a software that is no longer afflicted by a defective title to the Customer.

The substitute delivery may, in as far as reasonably acceptable to the Customer, also consist of the delivery of a new software version with at least a similar range of functions. The effort involved in having to retrain the Customer in the software shall not be deemed unreasonable. The Customer's rights with regard to compensation for expenditure incurred pursuant to the Sales of Goods Act 1979 remain unaffected.

5. LucaNet may require the Customer to pay a reasonable compensation for troubleshooting efforts carried out by LucaNet outside of its contractual obligations and at the Customer's express request. This applies in particular if:

- a) A reported technical defect is not reproducible/cannot be evidenced
- b) A reported technical defect is not attributable to LucaNet, or
- c) The software is used unreasonably and/or outside of the customary limits, or in non-conformity with the service description.

12.1 Rectification of Defects for License Purchases

1. The Customer shall report a defective software and/or the associated documentation to LucaNet promptly.
2. The Customer may grant LucaNet a reasonable grace period to render subsequent performance in the case of a significant defect, as well as a reasonable additional grace period in the event of unsuccessful subsequent performance. In the event that LucaNet's attempts at rendering subsequent performance within the grace period fail, the Customer may rescind the contract or reduce the agreed price. LucaNet's liability is limited in accordance with clause 11.
3. The Customer is not entitled to demand rectification of a defect from LucaNet for pre-release versions. The rectification of defects by LucaNet is strictly limited to software versions assigned "General Availability" (GA) status. Pre-release versions, beta versions, and versions no longer supported by LucaNet are used at the Customer's own risk and own responsibility.

12.2 Rectification of Defects for SaaS Delivery

1. LucaNet must rectify defective software in accordance with the preceding clauses.
2. The Customer does not have a right to terminate the contract, unless the contractual use available is deemed failed.

3. Efforts at making contractual use available shall be deemed failed if, within four weeks from receipt of the notice of defects, LucaNet:

- a) Rectifies a significant defect or
- b) Makes a suitable workaround solution available

This only applies if the Customer has duly performed its obligations to cooperate. The Customer is not entitled to terminate the contract due to insignificant defects.

12.3 Service Level Agreement for Rectification of Defects

1. LucaNet guarantees the following response times:

| Category | Error description | Response time |
|-----------------|---|---------------|
| Block | The software is unavailable in its entirety, or its functionality is severely limited. | 3h |
| Critical | A significant defect is a defect that significantly affects the software's productive use and for which no reasonable workaround that would deliver a comparable result is available. | 5h |
| Low | Any error not classified as block or critical . | 8h |

2. The response time is the period within which LucaNet is required to confirm receipt of a support request to the Customer and issue a ticket number. This period commences upon receipt of a support request within the agreed service opening hours (see Terms for Software Maintenance and Support). The period is exclusively limited to the agreed service opening hours. The response time for support requests received outside of support opening hours commences at the beginning of the next service opening hours.

3. The Customer has the right to object against an amendment of the CT. The Customer shall declare its objection to LucaNet in writing and within six weeks from receipt of a notice from LucaNet. This period is only deemed complied with if the objection is received by LucaNet within the same period. If the Customer does not object in due time and form, the amendments are deemed approved and the amended CT will become part of the contract. LucaNet's notice of amendment will expressly advise of the date and formal requirements for the objection.
4. The CT shall remain unchanged if the Customer objects against the amendments in due time and form. LucaNet may in this case terminate the primary contract within a period of six weeks from receipt of the Customer's objection if continuing the unchanged contract is commercially or technically infeasible or impossible for LucaNet.
